FIVE RAILROAD EXECUTIVES AT CHICAGO PREPARING FOR MOMENTOUS DECISION AFFECTING RAILROAD MEN'S WAGE

Committee Representing National Association of Railroad Executives Will Decide On Cut For Two Million Members of Railroad Brotherhoods.

NECESSARY AS ECONOMY MEASURE

CHICAGO, January 28.—Five men barricaded themselves in a hotel room today to decide how the wages of two million railroad employes should be slashed. The five holding the conference complete the Association of Railroad Executives. The case they draw up will be presented to the standing committee of the association. It will then be presented to the United States Railroad Labor Board. The railroad board, the supreme court of railroad capital and labor, will hold a public hearing before reaching a decision. Not until the railroad problem is settled will industrial readjustment be accomplished, authorities generally believe. Normalcy will come when the railroad problem is solved by the four sides involved.

These four sides are: Railroad management, one million stockholders, two million employes and the traveling public. E. T. Whiter, speaking for the roads before the labor board, said "the only way to pay the 6 per cent. earnings guaranteed the stockholders under the agreement is to reduce the wages." The railroads are losing money and the safety of passengers is imperiled. Now in order to reduce expenses the number of employes is cut which fails to properly safeguard the lives of the people.

FALLS OUT WITH BANKER FRIEND SQUARES BY KIDNAPPING WIFE

LOS ANGELES, January 28.—An arrest was predicted today in the kidnapping of Mrs. George Witherell, a banker's wife who disappeared from her Hollywood home. A business man was placed under surveillance by the police. This man was said to have had a disagreement with Mrs. Witherell's husband and had kidnapped her out of revenge. A grey haired man who tallies with the description of the stranger seen leaving the Witherell home with Mrs. Witherell walked into the office of Frederick Ewing and told him he knew something about Mrs. Witherell's disappearance. When Ewing picked up the telephone to telephone for the police he fled from the office, Ewing said.

PITTSBURGH'S WHOLESALE BURGLAR GIVEN TWENTY-FIVE YEARS IN PEN

PITTSBURGH, January 28.—Not less than 25 years in the penitentiary was the sentence imposed on Joseph Walters known to the police as the "One Eyed Jimmy" in court here today. Walters has been charged with 49 burglaries. The youth made no comment as Judge Ford pronounced the sentence.

FAMOUS BRITISH DIRIGIBLE R-34 HELPLESS ON OCEAN FOR NINE HOURS

LONDON, January 28.—The R-34 British dirigible which twice crossed the Atlantic in 1919 returned to her coast today being helpless at sea for 9 hours. The R-34 was 100 miles out at sea when her engine and propellers became damaged. At 8:45 after abandoning all hope the dirigible wirelessed for relief. At that time a thousand feet in the air she was "holding her own."

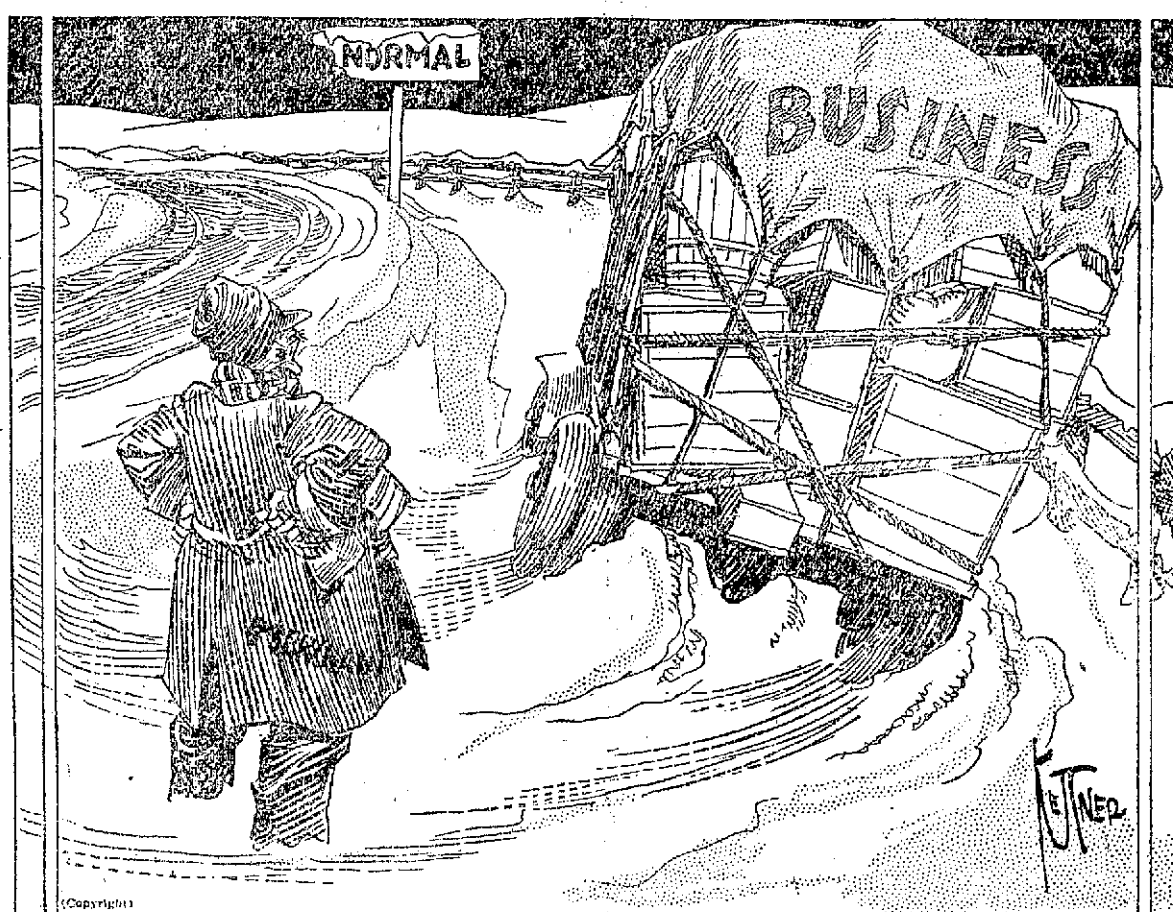

YOUR DOLLAR IS NOW BEGINNING TO SIT UP AND TAKE NOTICE

WASHINGTON, January 28.—Your dollar is getting to be worth more, especially your food dollar, according to official figures at the Labor Department. The clothing dollar, the traveling dollar, amusement dollar and other dollars are getting to be worth more.

SIX OF SLACKER BERGDOLL'S ATTEMPTED KIDNAPPERS ARE IN GERMAN JAIL

BERLIN, January 28.—Six Americans are in jail in Eberbach following the spectacular attempt to capture Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, draft dodger, formerly of Philadelphia, and now applying for an application for German citizenship. Leaders of the American party were Serg. Neaf of Maryland and Franz Simmers of Denver and with them were four civilians. The six were seized after they had pounced on Bergdoll when he was riding with his chauffeur Eugene Stecher, a German cousin. The six were charged with attempted murder and abduction. It was later changed to attempted usurpation of police powers.

WHAT BRINES SAID AT CURWENSVILLE IS MOST DAMAGING

Philadelphia, Jan. 28.—Animosity of William P. Brines toward Elmer C. Drewes, the Dartmouth senior, whom he is accused of murdering, was indicted Wednesday in the most sensational testimony thus far in Brines' trial.

"I'll get him, if it's the last thing I ever do," Peter J. S. Malloy, of Curwensville, Pa., testified the University of Pennsylvania sophomore told him in speaking of Drewes. He declared Brines had asserted to him that Drewes had "beaten him out of $75 or $100" and that the defendant had said he would stop $500 for it, put on boxing gloves and met him in the prize ring.

Malloy was followed on the stand by his mother, who corroborated her son's testimony concerning Brines' offer to fight Drewes for "$500 a side."

PHILIPSBURG FIRE COMPANY RAISING EQUIPMENT FUNDS

The Reliance Fire Company of Philipsburg is arranging for a mammoth bazaar to be held in the borough building beginning Wednesday, February 2, and continuing four days.

The purpose of the bazaar is to raise funds for the purchase of a city service hook and ladder truck, a piece of equipment the Philipsburg department stands badly in need of.

Chief Kreber and quite a large delegation from the Clearfield fire department expect to go over to the bazaar and participate in the parade on opening night. The boys hope to be able to take the American Legion Band along and thus assist their fellow firemen in their effort to secure better equipment.

A special meeting of the fire department will be held in No. 1 hall tonight at 8 o'clock to arrange for the affair.

LEGION BASKETBALL GAME THIS EVENING

The Bellefonte American Legion basketball team will meet the local legion team at the high school gym this evening. The game will start promptly at 8:30 o'clock and previous to that time and during the game the American Legion Band will discourse some of its sweetest music.

This basketball game promises to be a hummer and the fans will miss something if they fail to attend.

CO-OPERATIVE BUYING AT COALPORT

The Coalport Co-operative Association, organized and opened for business on August 20, 1920, declared a dividend of 20 per cent on January 1, 1921. Fifteen per cent goes to purchasers and five per cent will be placed in the reserve fund.

VENERABLE COUPLE OF KYLERTOWN WED 58 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Eisenhauer, estimable residents of Kylertown, celebrated their fifty-eighth wedding anniversary on Sunday, January 16. All their children, with one exception, were present. Plates were laid for 25 guests, and the table was laden with dainty and elaborately prepared foods. The anniversary wedding cake was decorated with 58 candles, lighted by Miss Elia Eisenhauer, the youngest granddaughter present. A purse of $110 was presented to the venerable couple.

Following their marriage at St. John's Catholic church at Bellefonte on January 13, 1863, Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhauer began housekeeping in Philipsburg, where they resided for two years. Mr. Eisenhauer driving team for the late L. G. Kessler, who conducted a store there and who was in the lumbering business. From here the couple moved to Snow Shoe, where Mr. Eisenhauer engaged in lumbering. He assisted in taking several rafts down the Susquehanna.

Two years later Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhauer moved to the Peter Kipple farm in Graham township, near Kylertown, where they resided for eight years, and then moved to Pleasant Hill, Cooper township. They followed farming for 21 years, moving to Kylertown in 1886, where Mr. Eisenhauer has conducted a grocery store ever since.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhauer were born at Carlisle, Cumberland county, the former May 10, 1829, and the latter on December 13, 1846. Mrs. Eisenhauer's maiden name was Catherine Elizabeth Viehdoerfer. The couple were residing at Snow Shoe at the time of their marriage.

The couple are the parents of ten children, all living, namely, Minnie, wife of J. H. Steinkrechner, Rochester, N. Y.; John R., Pleasant Hill; Madeline, Joseph and Laura, now living on the old homestead; William, Clearfield; Fred, Munson; Anna, wife of J. F. Hartle, Kylertown; Kathryn, wife of S. R. Rader, Munson; Charles, Margaret and Ella, at home. They have 26 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

With the exception of Mrs. Steinkrechner, all the children were present at the anniversary. The following grandchildren were also present: Charles Hartle, Philipsburg; James Hartle and Alice Eisenhauer, Pleasant Hill; Madeline, Joseph and Laura Eisenhauer, Munson; Theresa and Kathryn Eisenhauer, Clearfield.

BROKE HER HIP IN FALL

Mrs. Frances Ann Snyder, of Riverview, fell at her home yesterday afternoon and fractured one of her hips. Mrs. Snyder was getting up from a couch in her room and catching her foot in a shawl she was wearing fell heavily to the floor. Mrs. Snyder is more than 90 years of age and her injury is regarded as very serious by reason of her advanced age.

ENGLAND'S OLD BACHELORS WILL DADDY THEIR OWN

London, Jan. 28.—The new Parisian tax on bachelors in order to provide bonuses for babies is having its effects here.

Bachelors are ceasing to brag about their happy state.

At the beginning of 1920 a band of bachelors gathered together and formed the Leap Year's Bachelor Club. They pledged themselves to stand together and laid down the most stringent rules, which included a taboo on theater visiting in the company of a representative of the monogamous sex. The founder of the club was the first to fall.

After that they all caved in and stocktaking on New Year's proved that only one member was left of the gallant throng of sworn celibates. And now, in the early days of 1921 comes this distant rumbling from France. A tax on bachelors in order to bonus other men's babies! "Great Heavens!" they mutter. "This thing might get to England any day now!"

There is no talk of forming a 1921 bachelors' club. In such circumstances, unity, instead of making them strong, only makes them conspicuous. Bachelors no longer pass as irresponsible, care-free devils dangling money. The fear of taxation is driving them into matrimony and if any babies are to be bonus sed, they intend to be the fathers of them, rather than the bachelor supporters of them.

At the present rate of marriage when the time comes for the commissioners of inland revenue to levy their tax on bachelors, it is more than likely the papers will be returned marked:

"There ain't no such things."

Miss Mildred Reese, who has been the guest of Mrs. John Schnarrs for the past week, returned to her home in Keewauwin this morning.

A. E. Hess, contractor and builder of Winburne, was in Clearfield today on business connected with the plans for the proposed new building to be erected by The Progress, the coming Summer.

J. E. Califf is visiting at the home of his sister, Mrs. A. O. Campbell.

Miss Helen O'Brien is spending a few days with Miss Pek Rapsey in Philipsburg.

CHRISTY MATTHEWSON AGAIN IN THE BOX FACING THE HARDEST GAME OF HIS LIFE

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., January 28.—Christy Matthewson is in the box. Death is at the bat and the count is 2 and 3. It begins to look today as if the "Big Six" would foul everybody and make the dreaded heavy hitter strike out.

Matthewson, after being twice reported at the point of death from tuberculosis, has even chances of recovery. Today he lies in a reclining chair on the veranda of his apartment overlooking Lake Flower where hundreds are skating. It was learned he has even chances although he is still very ill.

PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT AGENTS APPEAR TO BE IN SEASON EVERYWHERE

WASHINGTON, January 28.—The death rate among prohibition agents killed in line of duty is higher than in the American army during the war, Warren Wheeler, of the Anti-Saloon League declared today before the Senate appropriations committee. Wheeler asked the committee to appropriate half a million or at least $300,000 more than the House provided. He said the agents ought to be better paid.

NEPHEW ARRESTED FOR UNCLE'S MURDER

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., January 28.—Meade Mountain, aged 32, is being held by the police in connection with the murder of Jasper Mountain, aged 71, his uncle. Police allege that Mountain and his Uncle had quarreled, culminating in a feud which existed for several years.

WEST SIDE M. E. CHURCH

Tonight Rev. C. H. Yutman delivers his far-famed lecture, "Eight Thousand Miles of Travel Twice Around the World."

The lecture deals with interesting experiences and observations on various facts, interspersed with humor and valuable data. The lecture is free.

Dr. Yutman will address the Sunday school and preach at 10:45 o'clock Sunday in the afternoon. At 1 o'clock he will hold what he calls the most beautiful service of the series. It is entitled "The Story of the Resurrection" and is illustrated by these beautiful flowers. The service is for girls from 14 to 30.

At 7:30 p. m. he will conclude his services at West Side with a sermon on "Heaven." Everybody is invited to enjoy these great feasts of good things. From here Dr. Yutman goes to Newark, N. J.

MY HAVANA GIRL WAS FINE SHOW

"My Havana Girl," which shows at the Driggs Theater last evening was the cleanest and most enjoyable musical comedy to visit Clearfield this season. There was more genuine talent in this company than could be raffed together out of the half dozen similar attractions which precede Jimmie Rodgers presentation of Miss Jean Tynes and her admirably supporting cast.

Morris Tolen is a comedian of very high class and made a telling hit with Clearfield theater goers. His work was particularly fetching. Miss Tynes as "Winifred Thompson" and Miss Mary Farrell as "Neddy M. Ford," were also highly pleasing.

The costumes were plentiful and superb, while an evenly balanced chorus added just what was necessary to round out a finished production. The male quartet was fully keeping with the general high class of the show, while the eccentric dancing of Harry Wallace was simply great and stamped the young man "some artist" in line.

It was a real genuine pleasure to witness the performance of "My Havana Girl."

Mrs. H. B. Layhead, Nick's street, is spending a week in Westport visiting her daughter, Kate.

Miss Helen O'Brien is spending a few days with Miss Pek Rapsey in Philipsburg.

TODAY IN CONGRESS

An increase in resources from $258,000 to $862,000 in ten years is a laudable achievement for a village banking institution, particularly when that growth is consistently spread over the term of years and shows signs of a further growth in the future. Such is the condition of the Bituminous National Bank of Winburne. A statement sent forth by Cashier Walter Stewart under whose able management the bank has made a wonderful growth sets forth this growth as follows:

Harrisburg, Jan. 28.—The commercial life of McKeesport Gas Pool, which 18 months ago became known nation wide when a gusher producing 50,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day was drilled, will end about June 1, this year, and by that time will have produced a total of approximately 18,000,000,000 cubic feet of gas. A report issued today by the bureau of topographic and geological survey of the Pennsylvania Department of Internal Affairs, shows the intense drilling has not spread over 500 acres and has been in the neighborhood of Versailles, Snake Hollow and Five Fields. Development has now extended in all directions, toward the Bellefonte anticline on the southeast, the Pin Hook anticline on the northwest and for many miles in either direction along the Murraysville anticline.

The McKeesport gas field, according to the new report of the Department of Internal Affairs, became a commercial pool on August 29, 1919, when the big gusher, the Foster and Brendle-Hamilton No. 3 well, was turned into the mains of the Peoples Natural Gas Company. Within a very short period drills were being placed in all parts of the field so that at the end of the pool's first year of commercial life there were 167 producing wells and a total of 528 known wells completed to the Speechley Sand. The daily production from the 167 wells on August 29, 1920, was 17,000,000 cubic feet or an average of 101,800 cubic feet for each producing well. The pool registered during the first year a total of 15,255,100,000 cubic feet of gas. Of this total the Foster well had produced 5,720,000 cubic feet of gas or a little more than one-third of the total production.

On September 30, 1920, 185 wells in the field were producing 12,600,000 cubic feet of gas per day or 68,000,000 cubic feet per well. The total cubic feet.

Proof That Quality Counts.
Bischoff, the great Russian scientist and naturalist, once said "women are inferior to men because their brains are smaller and lighter." But when that man died his brain was weighed and found to be lighter than the average woman's. So it is not weight or size or sex, but quality, that makes superiority, as the presumptuous Bischoff proves.—Exchange.

Insects That Have Short Life.
There are many eggs of small insects that are hatching all the time. The rays of sunshine, falling weakly upon the side of a tree or upon an old log, will hatch out many of these eggs, and the little creatures waddle through the frozen air for a few minutes before perishing. Possibly it is a tragedy with them when they are brought late the world too soon. At any rate they do not flourish; they do not mate and propagate their kind when hatched out in winter.

Everything New.
Robert's father had just been married the second time. One afternoon Robert had a friend of his over to his new home. After he had shown the little boy all through the house he said: "Do you know, Clark, everything in this house is new, even my mother."

Getting a Hand.
Second-story men are in demand at dinners—providing their first stories make a hit.—Cartoons Magazine.

Sound Advice.
Some young fellows think that it is "smarmy," "clavary," and a sign of bravery to drive near the edge of a precipice; to spend what cash they have freely; and to be a good fellow and take the risk someone else urges upon them. This is the sign of inexperience and lack of real business knowledge and experience. Play safe. Keep clean. Be strong. Be true, and you will never regret it.—Exchange.

CONGRESS IS URGED TO ACT

Five Provisions Requested in Aid of Disabled Veterans, Amending Vocational Training Law.

Amendment of the law under which disabled veterans of the World war are given vocational training, so as to provide five things demanded by the last convention of the American Legion at Cleveland was urged in congress by Legion representatives.

The five provisions requested by the Legion are:

1. Vocational training for American citizens who served with the allied armies, who were disabled and who are not entitled to training under the present law.

2. Training with pay for all disabled veterans with 10 per cent or more disability, instead of training with pay for some and training without pay for others, as now provided.

3. Vocational training for the widows and orphans of all men who died in the service.

4. The right of the federal board for vocational education to give all disabled men in training such medical care and treatment as is necessary to keep them at their courses.

5. That all disabled men in training shall receive $100 a month from the government while in training and those with dependents $120 a month, instead of different sums based upon the cost of living in different localities as now provided.

A special plea was made by John Thomas Taylor of the national legislative committee of the Legion for vocational training for the widows and orphans of the American dead of the World war. He said that undoubtedly the 50,000 American children whose fathers slept in Flanders fields were entitled to the same educational advantages that they would have had, were their fathers alive and able to provide for them. The widows of the men who died in France, he added, were likewise entitled, the bread-winning member of the family having been killed in defense of the country, to be taught some kind of work of trade.

EDITOR WAS ON FIRING LINE

Commander of Missouri Department of Legion One of Many Newspaper Men Who Heard Call.

John Francis Williams, commander of the Missouri department of the Legion, is one of thousands of newspaper men who left their typewriters when the war broke out. Enlisting as a private in the Missouri National Guard, Mr. Williams rose to the rank of first lieutenant.

In the A. E. F. he served as a machine gun officer with the Thirty-fifth division in the Vosges mountains and in the Argonne-Meuse drive. After the armistice, he served as instructor in the A. E. F. university at Reims and later assisted in publicity in connection with the interallied games.

Mr. Williams, who is a member of Robert S. Thurman post 13, Joplin, Mo., served as post commander and state major-at-arms previously to his election as department head. He is editor of the Joplin News Herald.

ORGANIZATION IS HIS TASK

Spokane (Wash.) Man Will Supervise Work of Enrolling Every Former Service Buddy.

Edward H. Prell of Spokane, Wash., was recently appointed director of the organization division at national headquarters of the American Legion. He succeeds Russell G. Creviston, who is now assistant national adjutant.

Mr. Prell served overseas with the One Hundred and Forty-sixth field artillery and participated in two major offensives of the World war. After his discharge from the army, Mr. Prell was active in the early organization of the Legion in his state. The supervision and direction of the Legion's 1921 campaign to enroll every eligible former service man in its ranks will be in the hands of the new director.

RAISED BIG CHRISTMAS FUND

Adjutant of Illinois Department of Legion Had Aid of Actress in Raising Christmas Money.

When William Q. Setliffe, adjutant of the Illinois department of the American Legion, started the Legion campaign which raised $50,000 for Christmas entertainments for sick and disabled veterans in Illinois hospitals, he called upon Miss Floe Bert, a well-known actress, to assist in making the undertaking a success. Miss Bert gave a large number of entertainments in Illinois cities, the proceeds of which were applied to the Legion's fund.

Miss Veretta Lambert left this morning for Spangler, where she will spend the week with friends.

Lady Bountiful

By JESSIE E. SHERWIN

(Copyright, 1919, by the Western Newspaper Union.)

It was a matter of no small wonderment when, after a mysterious absence from his accustomed haunts, Derby Dan reappeared attired respectably and with money to treat his friends royally.

"Left a legacy?" "Struck a new lay?" "Found a pocketbook?" and like expressions hailed Dan, but he only smiled wisely and, as his money finally gave out, ceased to be an object of comment and interest to all except Baldy Moss, who was his chosen chum in famine and plenty alike, and one day Dan confided his secret to Baldy.

"Tell you, partner," he rected, "I struck a queer snap. A young fellow made a bargain with me at three dollars a day to keep sober, report at his room every evening from seven to nine and answer his questions?"

"About what?" propounded Baldy skeptically.

"Oh, how we fellows of the tomato can and the rope belt live. Human interest information, was the way he put it. I told him all I knew. One day he says: 'I guess we will cancel the engagement, Dan, I must confess to being disappointed in you. It's the pathetic and pitiful, the real struggles and misery of the poor and unfortunate I have been looking for.'"

"Why, whatever was he after?"

"He's a story writer, or tries or hopes to be. He was looking for real experience and characters."

"I see, I see," nodded Baldy musingly. "Say, Dan, if ever we run across him point him out, will you?"

It was about a week after that when Dan suddenly seized Baldy's arm and pointed to a young man crossing the street.

"That's him," he spoke quickly.

"Leave the rest to me," directed Baldy, and put off on the trail of Merrill Hoyt with the hall: "Mister, can I have a word with you?"

"Certainly," nodded Merrill.

"I heard you're one of those guys who write for the papers," projected Baldy. "I guess, too, that you want to dig under the surface and get a thriller with lots of pep in it, hey?"

"You seem to have surmised what I'm trying to find," answered Merrill with a whimsical smile.

"Well, I ain't much up in litatoo, but I suppose you are after heroes and sheroes. I know one good and beautiful as an angel. She came to the tenement where I used to live before my wife died and I went to pieces, and started in to help the sick and needy. Say, that girl has worked all day in the factory and uses every cent she can spare for others. They call her Lady Bountiful, but her real name is Alice Lisle. Last week she pawned her neck chain to buy a baby buggy for a little crippled child, and pay the rent for a sick washerwoman. Say, I believe there's a mystery about her, too, and that's what you want in stories, don't you? She isn't no common clay, that's sure, and her pretty face and ways in a movie picture would make a whole play of itself."

Baldy furnished further details and Merrill bestowed a five-dollar bill upon him, but Baldy's final words were: "I say, mister, if Lady Bountiful turns out to be a princess in disguise and your story about her makes you famous, you'll blow me to an extra ten, eh?"

One week later Merrill Hoyt became a room tenant of an old woman on the same floor where Miss Lisle was located. The first sight he had of the young lady carried out the claim of Baldy that she was indeed "good and beautiful as an angel." A week spent in close proximity to herself and her humble neighbors proved a revelation to Merrill. There was not a woman or child in the old tenement that had not some story of kindness to disclose. Then Merrill was introduced to Miss Lisle by his landlady. Day by day he learned more and more to estimate her royal worth and night after night he wrote upon "his great book," which her loveliness and helpfulness inspired.

Merrill felt ill and never knew who had aided in nursing him until he was back to normal. It was his landlady who told him of the visits of Miss Lisle to assist her in caring for the feeblest patient.

"And oh," she said, "how you raved, and all about her, and how you were going to write her in a lovely story. And she blushed so beautifully when in your fever you began to talk about love, and how she should be your own when you said your book—and—here she comes now."

And, flushing from self-consciousness, Alice Lisle entered the room. It was the beginning of a pleasant association mutually cherished, and a few weeks later, well and strong again, Merrill told his love and all the story of his object in coming to the tenement.

"We will have to wait till my book brings in returns," he told the reciprocally happy girl, who smiled strangely and added a bewildering confidence.

She was the owner of the tenement and had a fortune of her own, and had assumed the role of a poor girl to get closer to the lives of the needy and lowly.

"We must share what I have to gether, dear," she whispered to Merrill, "for oh! the good we may do for these poor people whom we have taken into our lives."

A. W. Jones, of Six Mile Run, transacted business in town yesterday.

DISPLAY

In Modern Job Composition
And Advertising Literature

SOME years ago the prevailing methods among compositors to obtain desired emphasis in type display were eccentricity and harsh contrasts. Printers who study the needs of the advertiser realize that other methods must be used if real distinction is to be secured. There is such a volume of printing coming from many sources, both in literature and advertising, that the printer in order to make his work different and distinctive must use stylish and original type faces. The best proof of the intrinsic value of our new type faces is the number of new customers added to our list in the past few weeks.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By "Skinney"

For the benefit of Junior High's civics students: Clearfield was laid out in 1805 by the commission appointed by the Governor to make a selection of a site for a county seat for Clearfield county. It was incorporated into a borough by an Act of the Legislature, approved April 21st, 1840. It is located on the site of the Indian town of Chinelacumose and the openings or clearings made by the Indians which the first settlers found upon their arrival here, gave the name of Clearfield to the town and county.

"Bed Bug College," one of Clearfield's pioneer educational institutions, was the subject of an interesting discussion at Rhine's cigar store the other evening. Some of our not so well posted local historians claimed the frame building now located near Spruce street, just beyond Norris' store, was the original college, but M. G. Brown, an alumnus of the "college" knocked that contention sky-high with his careful and minute description of the old temple of learning, wherein the early Clearfielder mastered the intricacies of the three R's in the days before
"the war."

Brown says the original "Bed Bug College" was a log structure located on the lot where John Stock's residence stands; that his father located on the Reed farm in 1858 and he went to school at the "College" that Fall. He says the interstices between the logs were chinked and plastered as was the case with all pioneer log buildings and the "College" got its name from the fact that myriads of bed bugs used to come out of crevices in the "chinking" and play hide and seek along the surface of the walls during school hours, much to the amusement of the pupils.

The first teacher Brown remembers was the late Dr. A. T. Scaryver.
Clearfield county's first county superintendent of schools. He was followed by the late Squire Daniel Connelly, John G. Hall and Miss Harriet Swan, who afterwards taught for several years in the Leonard graded building.

Of the old-time pupils still residing here who attended the original college and its successor, the more modern frame dwelling, later rebuilt on the site it now occupies along the railroad at Spruce street, the historians were able to recall Milt and Elam Brown, while several of the girls who acquired their early education there are still in Clearfield.

One can never be too old to do good. Here we have Mrs. Elizabeth S. Barker, 79 years old and a widow with grown children, just ordained as a Methodist clergyman and placed in charge of the church at Peters-boro, N. H. She is the oldest woman ever ordained in any church. Her story is well worth telling.

Years ago her husband, a veteran of the Civil War, died, leaving
"Mother Barker" as she was known,
with two young children to feed, clothe and educate.

For years she devoted herself to that task, working in a shoe shop to get the necessary money, and at night studying theology and her Bible.

She early developed a regular routine, which had for its base her adage, "Never waste a minute."
If she had bread to bake, she would study while it was in the oven.

"Every moment is precious," is another of her mottoes. Never in all the years of her busy life has she sat down with folded hands, content to do nothing.

Her calls are famous among the housekeepers of Petersboro—almost as famous as her sermons.

Her 79 years have left her vigorous, and twice each Sunday she preaches to the crowded seats of her little church.

Speaking of incomes, Arthur Bristance gets off the following trite observations:

Income tax authorities tell you that only one man in the United States reports, for taxation, an income of five million dollars. Any one of six big lawyers in the United States can name a different list of six men, every one of the six with five millions dollars' income at least.

Some men have ten, fifteen and twenty million dollar incomes. What the biggest income is nobody knows; but it is certainly more than 50 millions,
"and you may lay to that."

This does not mean necessarily that the rich are dodging the income tax. Some take stock dividends instead of cash dividends; the government gets nothing—and the supreme court has allowed it.

Others have their money invested in securities that cannot be taxed.
A doctor or little business man, with $10,000 a year, must pay taxes. The man whose millions are invested in state or municipal bonds pays nothing on the income. In the United States are forty thousand million dollars of such securities all free from government income tax.

It is nice for those that do not earn their incomes, but get the money from invested capital.

A couple of local stage door
Johnnies followed some of the chorus girls with last night's show to their hotel. They pursued their quarry into the upper regions of the hotel and when the Argus-eyed night clerk tiptoed upstairs and caught the pair sounding out door knobs along the darkened hall way one of the "lady killers" threw a fit. He was such a consummate actor that the clerk fell for the ruse even to the extent of calling a doctor for the sick man.
The companion in crime acted as nurse during the commotion incident to "the spell" and was also forced to go down in his jeans for the $2 with which to pay the medical man for his services. When he tried to recover from his "sick" friend, that gentleman refused to come across, saying his acting got them out of a hole and the other fellow ought to be glad to settle in view of all the circumstances.

The KITCHEN CABINET

The budget plan is a sort of blueprint of what one proposes to do with the funds at command. The builder can do his work properly only with suitable plans before him. The difference between the structure erected with a plan and that erected without one is great. The difference between the results of an income administered according to system and those spent at random is one of just about the same degree. To attempt to work without a well-formulated plan, means a haphazard and unsatisfactory result.
—Clarence Flynn.

The smaller the income, the more important is the making of a budget a plan for expenditure.

GOOD THINGS IN SEASON.

Sour cream is so delicious in cakes, biscuits, muffins and cookies, that not one bit should ever go to waste.

Sour Cream Cake.—Stir together two and one-fourth cups of flour with two teaspoon-fuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt, and one teaspoonful of each of cinnamon and nutmeg. Add one and one-fourth cups of sugar, one-half cup of nuts, and one cup of chopped and floured raisins. Stir into one cup of thick sour cream one-fourth of a teaspoonful of soda, dissolved in one tablespoonful of water. Add to this one-fourth of a cup of softened butter and stir until well mixed. Combine the flour and other dry ingredients with the cream and butter; beat together and bake in a paper-lined loaf tin.
One or two eggs may be added if eggs are plentiful, making the cake richer.
A cake using milk may be made with sour cream, using the cream as a substitute for the milk and counting the cream as equal to one-third cupful of shortening.

Scotch Soup With Prunes.—Cut into bits one pound and a half of veal and three ounces of bacon. Put into a soup kettle, with one large onion, three ounces of butter, one tablespoonful of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt and one of pepper. Cook until the veal is browned, add three pints of water and one and one-half dozen prunes and cook slowly for one hour. Strain, thicken with flour and serve with whipped cream.

Potatoes in Bacon.—Peel good sized potatoes and cook in boiling water for fifteen minutes. Remove from the oven and wrap each potato in a slice of bacon, fastening with a toothpick.
Place in the oven and cook until the bacon is well cooked.

STANDARDIZING EDUCATION

bill providing for the standardization of school books in the state is to be presented in the Ohio Legislature this win- . Such a measure if properly drawn should do away with many of the difficulties and inequalities now existent because children in one county or district receive different training from those in others.

It is desirable from every point of view that the school work of any grade in one school should cover the same ground in another, and that the child who is transferred should be able to go on where he left off, instead of being demoted and losing valuable time, as happens when school systems are different.

There are certain contingencies to be considered, however. The ground to be covered should be determined by educational experts who know the subject from both sides of the school room door. The selection of text books likewise, with every precaution observed to eliminate school book graft. Also the standards of education and books agreed upon should conform to the demands of the business world which will confront the child later on.

REFORMING THE DANCE

Some of the modern dances that are said to be "more danced against than dancing" are coming in for animadversion from several sources. One of the most recent protests is from the University of Pennsylvania, where, it is reported, shimmying, toddling and camel-walking are not to be permitted at the dances that take place after the basketball games. The extreme limit of the entire zo-ological gamut has been run, from the alligator amble to the zebra zig-zag; and dancing, which used to be the poetry of motion, is now free verse. At Brown University the iconoclasts are after the great god Jazz himself, to judge by an editorial that lately appeared in the Brown Herald. The editor says: "The college man, supposedly the most cultivated and the most reasonable member of society, is in a position to call a halt."

On the other hand, Prof. Wilm, of Boston University, finds much to commend in the modern dances. "My two-and-a-half-year-old son one-steps and fox-trots." He holds that dancing represents a natural instinct which it is better to express than to suppress. "It serves a useful social end," in his opinion, and "it helps uphold conventional society."

That there is room for improvement from the esthetic point of view is obvious to those who from the sidelines have surveyed the ungainly maneuvers and contortions of the modern ballroom. Perhaps our forefathers and foremothers were "too slow" when they danced the quadrille and the minuet. But in speeding up the dance to the breathless whirl of squirrel-cage gyration it is not clear that we have enhanced the charm of the dance for any but the vulgarian to whom dancing is merely "hugging to music."—Public Ledger.

FIVE BILLS UP TO CONGRESS

Legion Legislative Committee Is Pressing Passage of Measures Important to World War Men.

Five bills are being pressed by the legislative committee of the American Legion at the present session of congress. Foremost among those in public interest is the Fordney bill, that provides adjusted compensation for all ex-service men, but more important in the eyes of Legion men are the Watson bill, the Rogers bill, the Stevenson bill and a sundry appropriation bill allowing $10,000,000 for hospital construction.

The Fordney, or "bonus" bill, passed the house in the last days of the last session of the Sixty-sixth congress. It then was referred to the senate finance committee, of which Senator Boies Pennock of Pennsylvania is chairman. Assurances were given that early hearings would be held on the bill.

The Fordney bill, as it stands now, provides a cash payment for all veterans up to and including the grade of captain, of one dollar a day for each day of home service, and $1.25 a day for foreign service, with a limit of $500 and $625, respectively. Or, the option of the same amount, plus 40 per cent if taken in the form of government certificates, assistance in the purchase of a home or farm or vocational training.

The Fordney bill, however, will be subordinated to the other four pe Legion measures, all of which aim at the improvement of the condition of the disabled. In this the legislative committee is following the mandate of the second national Legion convention, which went on record that "matters for the benefit of the sick and disabled are of first importance and are to be given preference over all other legislation affecting the welfare of the service men."

The Watson bill provides for 14 regional branches of the bureau of war risk insurance, as many sub-offices as may be necessary, and would make it possible for ex-service men to pay their government insurance premiums at any post office. It relieves from the payment of premiums disabled men in hospitals or taking vocational training and men temporarily disabled. It extends the time in which ex-service men may apply for hospitalization. It is a bill that would improve the efficiency of the war risk bureau and would give justice to the disabled. The Watson bill passed the house unanimously at the last session. It then was referred to a sub-committee of the senate finance committee.

The Rogers bill represents the efforts of the American Legion to obtain co-operation between the bureau's functioning for the benefit of disabled ex-service men. It provides for the transfer of the rehabilitation section of the federal board of vocational training and of the public health service to the jurisdiction of the war risk bureau. The plan is to have all the bureau's under one directing and responsible head, preferably a new cabinet officer.

The Stevenson bill would establish the same privilege of retirement for disabled officers of the emergency forces as is now enjoyed by officers of the regular army, a privilege already accorded by congress to emergency officers of the navy.

WELL KNOWN TO LEGION MEN

Gilbert Bettman, Chairman of the National Legislative Committee of the American Legion.

Gilbert Bettman, who was recently appointed chairman of the national legislative committee of the American Legion, is well known to many Legion members because he helped to draft the four-fold optional plan of adjusted compensation and, with James G. Scruggs, new national vice commandant, presented it before the ways and means committee of the house of representatives.

Mr. Bettman was graduated from Harvard college and the Harvard law school with three degrees, and practiced law in (Chicago) until a short time after the outbreak of the war. Appointed as assistant to the director of the bureau of war risk insurance, Mr. Bettman served in that capacity until the German offensive of March 21, when he was commissioned captain in the military intelligence division of the general staff.

Mr. Bettman attended the St. Louis caucus of the American Legion and the Minneapolis and Cleveland conventions. He has served as chairman of the war risk committee and as a member of the national beneficial legislative committee.

General Sherman Stuff.

It was a perfect French night. In other words the rain was coming down steadily and the mud was at its stickiest. In "squad" formation—twos, threes, fives and sixes—a regiment of Buffaloes was moving into an alleged rest camp. The accent was on the camp.

The most forlorn of all the forlorn crew staggered against a barracks doorway where he was accosted by a white non-com.

"Well, Sam, whaddye think of this war now? Pretty good war?"

"Boss, dis yeah war never was a good war—and dis last day practically done ruined it completely."—American Legion Weekly.

Miss Clara Mae Passmore entertained a number of her friends last evening at her home on Reed street.

Pepto-Mangan, Nature's Beautifier

It is the Coloring Matter of Pure Blood That Makes a Good Complexion

Beauty is more than skin deep. No one can have a clear, delicate skin, glowing with health, if the blood is impure or lacking in the vitally necessary iron that gives the coloring matter to the "life fluid." Neglect of regular and necessary waste elimination, helps to render the blood impure and reduce its iron contents. The best cosmetic in the world is pure, healthy iron-rich blood.

Doctors, realizing the importance of enriching and improving the blood, have for years prescribed Gude's Pepto-Mangan, the pleasant and proved blood builder and tonic.

Pepto-Mangan contains just the elements needed to change thin, watery blood to good, red blood. Pepto-Mangan builds rich, red blood, enabling it to carry strength and vigor to every part of the body.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan has become so well known, by reason of doctors recommending it, that you can get it in tablet or liquid form at any drug store. Instead of trying to cover up a poor complexion, get a bottle of Gude's Pepto-Mangan and note how soon you feel better, sleep better, work harder, play with more zest—and how your skin and complexion are improving.

Only make sure to get the genuine. It has "Gude's" on the package.—Adv.

A Great Discovery

Swollen hands, ankles, feet are due to a dropsical condition, often caused by disordered kidneys. Naturally when the kidneys are deranged the blood is filled with poisonous waste matter, which settles in the feet, ankles and wrists.

As a remedy for those easily recognized symptoms of inflammation caused by uric acid—as scalding urine, backache and frequent urination, as well as sediment in the urine, or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, gout, it is simply wonderful how quickly "Anuric" (anti-uric acid) acts; the pains and stiffness usually disappear. "Anuric" is the discovery of Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y.

Step into any drug store and ask for a package of "Anuric," which is many times more potent than lithia.

Great Majestic Family Ranges

In a letter just received from the Majestic Manufacturing Co., we have been instructed to reduce prices on all Majestic Family Ranges.

Manufacturer takes lead in sweeping range price reduction.

This decline is an extraordinary effort on the part of the manufacturers and ourselves to stabilize business in general.

Through co-operation of Majestic Dealers and the factory this exceptional decline was decided on at this time, rather than gradual reductions throughout the year.

Those familiar with continued high costs of iron and labor, will wonder how this great reduction can be made now, but some one had to take the initiative, and we are proud to announce that the Majestic people are setting the pace.

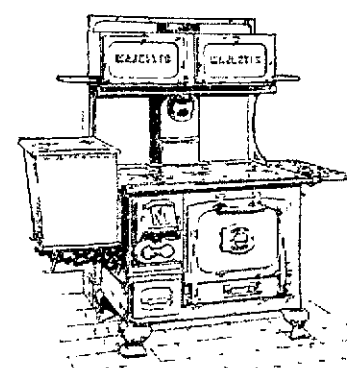

The Majestic Manufacturing Co., and the Majestic Dealers throughout the United States, decided to take their loss all at one time rather than string it out over the entire year 1921.

In the New Model Majestic we offer the highest standard of range perfection, and with this extra low price, probably lower than it will be this fall, there is no reason why your kitchen should be without one of these wonderful ranges.

PITTSBURG MAN GETS SURPRISE OF HIS LIFE

Sterritt Only Weighed 119 Pounds When He Began Taking Tanlac—He Now Weighs 156—Believes It Saved His Life.

"The surprise came when I stepped on the scales and found I had actually gained thirty-seven pounds in weight," said Thomas J. Sterritt, of 1125 Schuffield St., Pittsburgh, Pa., stationary engineer at the Consoto building.

"I honestly believe Tanlac saved my life, for when I began taking it I was about down and out and didn't know which way to turn for relief. I don't believe anybody ever suffered worse from stomach trouble than I did for six years. Almost as soon as I swallowed a meal my troubles began and I had such smothering, weight I lost and more besides and sensations and such awful cramping around my heart it just seemed like I had to fight for my life. There were times when I fainted dead away. This happened several times when I was at my work in the Consoto Building.

"My whole nervous system seemed to be shattered and it was mighty little sleep I got at night. I fell off in weight so fast it was enough to alarm anybody, in fact I lost thirty pounds in just a short time. My friends were shocked to see how thin and bad I was looking, and some of them told me I looked like I had been a sick man for years.

"Well, sir, a friend where I work put me on to Tanlac, and it was simply astonishing how it took hold of my trouble. The first bottle made such a change in me my friends could hardly believe me when I told them what had done the work.

"Honestly I never had such an appetite in my life as I have these days and what is more, I eat anything in the world I want and nothing ever as I swallowed a meal my troubles began and I had such smothering, weight I lost and more besides and sensations and such awful cramping around my heart it just seemed like I had to fight for my life. There were times when I fainted dead away. This happened several times when I was at my work in the Consoto Building.

Tanlac is sold by all leading druggists everywhere.

Timely Love.

Jack, four, could tell the time for his mother by locating the nearest number. One day when he came back to tell his mother, his eyes were as big as saucers, as he said: "Why, mother! They're both at ten! They're loving each other!"

Consolation.

It's a mighty good thing that you ain't great enough to set the river on fire, for in that case what in the world would the fishermen do for a place to float the time away?—Atlanta Constitution.

LESSON FOR JANUARY 30.

JESUS' OFFICIAL PRESENTATION AS KING.

LESSON TEXT—Matt. 21:1-11.
GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord—Matt. 21:9.
REFERENCE MATERIAL—Matt. 20:29-34, Luke 19:29-40, John 12:12-19, 1 Pet. 3:15.
PRIMARY TOPIC—The Story of a Wonderful Procession.
JUNIOR TOPIC—A Wonderful Procession.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Honoring Christ in Our Lives.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Lordship of Jesus—Its Meaning for Us.

I. The Preparation (vv. 1-6).
1. The sending of the disciples for the ass (vv. 1-3). He told them just where to go to find it and told them how to answer the inquiry of the one who owned it. This shows how perfectly our Lord knows our ways. God uses unlikely and apparently insignificant things in the accomplishment of his purposes.

2. The fulfillment of prophecy (vv. 4, 5). Some five hundred years before this Zechariah had made this prediction. If the predictions of His first coming were thus literally fulfilled there is no alternative but to believe that those of His second coming will be literally fulfilled. The prediction of Zechariah 14:3-11 will be just as literal as that of Zechariah 9:9.

3. The obedience of the disciples (v. 6). The request may have seemed strange and unreasonable, but they fully obeyed. True disciples will render full and glad obedience no matter how strange the command may seem.

II. The Entrance of the King (vv. 7-11).

1. The disciples put their garments upon the ass and set the Lord upon them (v. 7). This act showed that they recognized Him as their King (II Kings 9:13).

2. The multitude. Some spread their garments in the way; others who had no garments to spare cut down branches and did the same with them, which was just as acceptable to Him. To give what we have and to do what we can is all that He demands of us.

3. The city shaken (vv. 10, 11). This was a stirring time but one more stirring is coming. That will be when the Lord comes in power and glory.

III. The King Rejected (vv. 12-17).

The immediate occasion of this rejection was the cleansing of the temple. A like cleansing had been made some two years before (John 2:13-17), but the worldlings had gone back to their old trade.

IV. The Nation Rejected by the King (vv. 18-40).

Having in this official presentation shown their unwillingness to receive Christ. He turns from them and by parables makes known their awful condition.

1. The barren fig tree cursed (vv. 19, 20). It was on the morrow after His official presentation as Jesus was returning from Jerusalem that He observed the unfruitful fig tree. Because of hunger He sought for figs, and finding none He caused to fall upon it a withering curse. This fig tree full of leaves but barren of fruit is a type of Israel. With its leaves it gave a show of life, but being destitute of fruit it had no right to enumerate the ground.

2. The parable of the two sons (vv. 25, 32). Both sons were told by the father to work in the vineyard. The one like the prodigal publican, refused outright to obey, but afterward repented and went. The other pretended willingness to obey, but in reality did not. The first one represents the publicans and harlots; the second, the self-righteous, proud Pharisees, priests and elders. The Lord declared that the publicans and harlots would go into the kingdom before them.

3. The parable of the householder (vv. 33-40).

(1) The householder. This was God himself. (2) The vineyard. This means Israel (see Isa. 5:1-7; Jer. 2:21; Ps. 80:8). The Lord went to particular pains to gather out this nation and make it separate, bestowing peculiar favors upon it. This vineyard so well kept and provided for did not bear fruit. (3) The husbandmen. These were the spiritual guides, the rulers and teachers of Israel, the members of the sanhedrin. (4) The servants sent for the fruits of the vineyard. These were the various prophets whom God sent to the nation. The maltreatment and rejection of the prophets is fully set forth in the Scriptures. They were beaten and killed. (5) The Son. He is the Lord Jesus Christ, God's only and beloved Son. He came into their midst.

They That Deny.

They that deny a God destroy man's nobility for certainly man is of kin to the beasts by his body, and, if he be not of kin to God by his spirit, he is a base and ignoble creature.—Bacon.

The Kingdom of God.

The kingdom of God is not a business set up in rivalry with worldly business, but a divine law regulating and a divine temper pervading the pursuits of worldly business.—Doctor Martineau.

"Father of the Chapel."

This term is applied to the printing industry, is one of religious derivation. When, centuries ago, printing was done in monasteries, it was customary to discuss all matters connected with the work in the chapel, with the father superior in the chair. Hence the term "Father of the Chapel."

The Green Heron.

The green heron, which is sometimes called the fly-catcher, is about one and one-half feet long, and is common throughout the United States and Canada. It feeds mostly on fish, frogs and other aquatic animals, and may be seen, particularly in the morning and in the evening, standing patiently motionless in some shallow water, waiting till prey comes within reach.

Get Along Without Meat.

Whole races of men, comprising many millions of individuals, live their entire lives without meats of any sort, and when fed a sufficient amount of other foods are wonderfully vigorous, prolific, enduring and intelligent. Witness the Brahmans of India, the Buddhists of China and Japan and the teeming millions of Central Africa.

Your neighbor may tell you in glowing terms of the goodness of DULUTH IMPERIAL FLOUR, but genuine enthusiasm can only be aroused when you have baked with it yourself.

For bread baking—DULUTH IMPERIAL FLOUR is at its best. It produces big, fine-textured loaves of perfect color, tender crust and unusual flavor.

Biscuits, cakes and pastries made with DULUTH IMPERIAL FLOUR are delightfully appetizing and, because of the high percentage of gluten, are most wholesome and nourishing.

THE GRANARY

A Column of News and Timely Topics for the Man Who Feeds the World

Harrisburg, Jan. 28.—Contrary to the general belief, particularly on the part of city people, the past year has not been a profitable one for Pennsylvania apple growers, for many have lost money with even a record crop. Speaking to the apple growers at yesterday afternoon's meeting of the State Horticultural Association in connection with the farm products show, Dr. S. W. Fletcher, head of the horticultural department at the Pennsylvania State College, said in his report for the general fruit committee that thousands of barrels were not harvested in the great Cumberland-Shenandoah Valley.

"We have been the innocent victims of a combination of circumstances that is not likely to occur again in a generation," he continued. "These include the war readjustment period, a presidential year, tight money, miserable transportation service, exorbitant freight rates, packages scarce and costly, very little demand for by-products and high prices for labor and supplies, which make a combination hard to beat. Other specialists and even general farmers are in the same boat. We are all caught in the readjustment web that we have known all along was being spun for us. But there are other years coming and some of them will be good."

"Some of our people were getting too 'cocky.' This trying season is going to be a good thing for the apple industry of Pennsylvania. The contrast between 1919 and 1920 would be tragic were it not so funny. In 1919 apple prices were high and there was nothing but rosy tinted optimism. The papers were full of tales of fortunes made in apple growing almost over night. Some orchards sold for $1,000 an acre and the 1919 crop in some sections netted that amount to the acre. Orchard stock companies sprang up like mushrooms. Some people deluded themselves into believing that an acre of apple orchard reasonably might be expected to average $1,000 an acre annually, over a series of years."

"The awakening from this Arabian Night's dream of easy riches has been painful but salutary. Some who paid big prices are wearing long faces now and their pocket books are flat, but their vision is clearer. This year will be worth while if it freezes out of the apple business the speculators and get-rich-quick men and leaves the industry in the hands of bona fide growers. There is no room for weak-kneed and faint hearted men in this business—it calls for philosophers with a stability of purpose."

"I hope this crisis in the apple industry will teach our wholesale growers a lesson in the danger of over-speculation. Western New York has learned to combine apples with other fruits and farm crops in such a way as to most fully utilize man and team labor throughout the year. They have been able to withstand several periods of depression in the past 50 years, and they do not have

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS CURWENSVILLE

William Force, who has been in the Clearfield Hospital for some time, died in that institution, Thursday morning, of old age and general debility and his body was brought to the home of Kline Farnell, Ridge avenue, where it reposed until the day of burial. On December 23 last he was 83 years old. Deceased came into this neighborhood shortly after the close of the Civil War and followed the plastering trade. He married a woman who was a sister of G. B. Hoover's first wife, whose name we cannot recall now. After a few years of congenial married life she died, leaving no children. Some years after that event he was wedded to Viola Ellinger, of Bloom township, with whom he lived until her death last February. His general health was slowly declining for several years. No children were born of his second marriage, although he adopted a boy and reared him until he reached manhood. Mr. Force resided in Bloom township for some years after his second marriage, but the distance being too great for him to walk after a hard day's work, he purchased a plot of ground on Ridge avenue and erected thereon a home, which he occupied until about a month ago. For a number of years he was employed at the Summit sole leather tannery, but his last labor was performed at the P. H. and L. tannery, where he remained until he was unable to walk back and forth to his work. During the invasion of Lee's army into Pennsylvania he enlisted in an emergency regiment and was at Gettysburg, but his regiment was not engaged in the fight, as it had not been sworn into the United States service. From Gettysburg he went to York and engaged in hospital work until the close of the war. Deceased was a peculiar man in many ways, yet he was inoffensive and a good citizen. His funeral will be held today, his body being taken to Greenville cemetery and placed in the family plot.

The Penn Public Electric Company is making arrangements to extend its line from Curwensville to Mahaffey via Grampian, Hepburnia and connecting with all towns and hamlets between the starting and ending points. We understand that P. E. Smith, Susquehanna avenue, has the contract for furnishing the required number of poles for the extension.

The number of dogs that have been running at large in this borough lately has been decreased a dozen or so within the past few days. Chief of Police Clark is going to keep right on with the good work until there are no stragglers or stray ones left.

Two women evangelists visited Curwensville Wednesday looking for a vacant church or a suitable room in which to hold meetings. Whether they were successful in their quest it is not known.

Considerable interest has been aroused in the revival meetings now being held in the Methodist Episcopal church. Meetings are held every night, excepting Saturday. On Sunday afternoon a men's meeting will be held. A cordial invitation is extended to every male resident of this town and vicinity to be present. Come out, even if the meeting does you no spiritual good, it surely will do you no harm.

The P. H. and L. tannery has received a small order for about 700 sides of a certain kind of finished leather, which gave employment to about a dozen men this week.

Illini Tribe No. 362 held an unusually enthusiastic meeting on Wednesday evening. A number of pale faces asked for blood, brother membership, and their applications will be immediately considered. After all lodge business had been finished, the chiefs and braves indulged in a smoker, the material for which was furnished by John A. Dale, one of the chiefs of this most flourishing tribe.

We heard a whisper yesterday that the reason the brick yard was stocking so much coal was that a miners' strike was imminent about February 1. We do not surmise there is many grains of truth in the report, as the present scale does not expire until April, 1922. The scale price, for pick mining, is $1.34 per gross ton; for machine mining, 92 cents per gross ton. Inside mine laborers receive from $6.50 to $7 per day and outside men are paid in proportion, so an old time miner informed us yesterday. He heard some strike talk, but said considering the source it had no weight with the miners at all.

Mrs. Howard McClosky went to Clearfield yesterday and visited her husband, who is a patient in the Clearfield Hospital.

The money that a man makes by midnight labor goes to defray his funeral expenses.

"Died yesterday." Who died? Perhaps it was a gentle babe—one whose laugh was as the rime of summer hills tinkling in the power of roses—whose little life was a perpetual fairy, in Maytime crowned with the petals of flowers that never fade or mayhap it was youth, hopeful and generous, whose path was hemmed with flowers, with a sacred lurking underneath, one whose soul soared for communion with the great and good and reached forth with earnest struggle for the garden in the distance. But the heart is still now; he died yesterday. Died yesterday! Died yesterday! A young girl, pure as the orange flowers that clasped her forehead, was stricken down as she stood at the altar; and from the dim aisle of the temple she was borne to the "garden of slumbers." A tall, crowned man, girl with the halo of victory and at the days' close, under his own vine and fig tree, fell to dust, even as the anthem trembled upon his lips; and he, too, was laid "where the rude forefathers of the hamlet sleep." An ancient patriarch, bowed with age and cares, even as he looked out upon the distant hills for the coming of the angel host, sank into a dreamless slumber, and on the door-post is written, "died yesterday." Daily, men, women and children are passing away, and almost every day, in some graveyard the soil is flung upon the dead. As often in the morn we find some flower that blushed sweetly in the sunset, has withered up forever; so daily, when we rise from bivouac to stand at our posts, we miss some brother, neighbor or friend. Each day some heart drops from the jewel thread of friendship—some eye to which we have been wont to listen has been hushed forever. But wise is he who mourns not the pearl and music lost, for life with him shall pass away gently, as an eastern shadow from the hills, and death be a triumph and a gain.

Swiss Funeral Customs.

Swiss funeral customs are peculiar. At the death of a person the family inserts an announcement in the local paper asking for sympathy. In front of the house is placed a black table on which stands a black jar. Into this the friends of the family drop little black margined visiting cards. Only men go to the churchyard.

Send in That Red Envelope Now
Sweaters Adopt Quiet Colors

IF THIS were a dustless and smokeless world nearly all gentlemen would probably go clad in white the greater part of the time, for there is nothing that suits them quite so well. In clothes made for wear in those sunny resorts along the clean sands that border the sea we find them fairly reveling in white apparel of every character; and even sport clothes this year have swung away from vivid colors to white, or white with a dash of color thrown in. Such colors as are used are no "wild" as they were, at that.

This trend of the styles toward white and quiet tones is very noticeable in sweaters and sweater coats, where, heretofore there has been abundance of strong color. In the new displays white leads off in the most beautiful of garments and in its company are white and black combinations, followed by white and pale gold, white and emerald green, white and deep beige, white and soft purple. Where white is not chosen tan, beige and taupe are considered, sometimes in combination with the same livelier colors that are found with white, and often with quieter tones. A typical example of good style in sweaters appears in the knitted coat sweater in tan, shown in the picture, with bands of brown angora finishing the sleeves, facing the front of the garment and forming the collar.

The descendants of the original sweater are many and varied. There is a wide difference between them and their ancestors for the element of style has grown more and more important as these garments become more and more essential in the wardrobe. Style, in fact, counts for more than anything else in those models made of silk yarn, and the most interesting thing about them this season is the marvelous knitting revealed in stitches that are managed with amazing ingenuity.

BILL GARDNER IS ON THE WARPATH

Sailor Gordon, the Punsy grappler, who was scheduled to meet Bill Gardner, the local champ at the Liberty Theatre on February 27, ran out of the match when he got a chance at easier game by signing up to wrestle Pat Patterson, of Clearfield.

This match is scheduled for the "Groundhog" village on their national holiday next Wednesday.

Manager Edwards is anxious to match Gardner with either Patterson or Gordon and will meet either or both of them in their own home towns at any time they suggest for fun, money or marbles. Any communication addressed to A. C. Edwards, Clearfield, will get action for these alleged mat artists. Step right up boys, don't crowd.

Her Engagement Ring

By MYRTLE LEE

(Copyright, 1919, by the Western Newspaper Union.)

She had the daintiest, most shapely hand ever seen, and Earle Warren recognized it and flashed an admiring glance at the same as Nava Burdette sat drawing pictures for her little brother Ned on a rustic table in the garden pagoda. There had been a lively, merry lawn party, and awaiting tea there was a breaking up into various groups. Unostentatiously and from behind Earle had kept near to Miss Burdette and her close friends, Alice and Muriel Dodge, and their escorts. Nava had been his partner at times and it had naturally followed that they had remained together.

Little Ned had, however, discovered somebody's sketch book, had extracted some loose blank sheets and was insisting that Aunt Nava should amuse him. She portrayed his favorite engine and train of cars, a horse, an automobile and an airplane. Earle indicated an interest in this pictorial display, but Miss Burdette told Ned to hold his collection safe and tight, objecting to its presentation on account of alleged crudeness.

"Just one more sheet," finally announced Ned. "Oh, aunt! won't you let me draw something for you?"

"Certainly, dear," assented Nava. Ned spread the sheet on the table. "Now," he said, "I want to show you something we do in school. You just spread your hand down light over the paper. That's it. Now don't you move it," and with pride and accuracy Ned proceeded to trace the skeleton outlines of fingers and hand clear to the wrist. Then with satisfaction he held it up to her view.

"Isn't that fine?" he challenged, and Nava smiled her approval, and just then some one called to her from a group a little distance away, and she flitted with a conscious flush as her glance met that of Earle, betokening interest manifestly in all her movements.

"You can have this, Mr. Warren, because you're such a good friend to Aunt Nava," observed little Ned generously, extending the penciled sheet. Then he ran away after a kitten crossing the path, and Earle casually scanned the very fine outline of the delicate hand of the peerless creature of whom he was indeed the good friend, and secretly hoped to make some day a dearer one. Idly he took out his pencil and began tracing the breaks Ned had made in the outlines. The pencil point crossed the third finger of the left hand and rested there. In a whimsical frame of mind Earle began to trace a circle about the base of that certain finger. He smiled to himself as he pleasantly recalled that Miss Burdette wore no jewelry, predicting hopefully that she was heart free. He gazed at the ring with a very fair diamond and started suddenly as a voice spoke directly at his ear, and there was mischief-eyed Alice Dodge leaning past his shoulder.

"Drawing a ring on Nava's finger?" fluttered this very clever young woman. "Why, and you have given her an engagement ring, too?"

"She deserves one," observed Earle quickly.

"Bolder and bolder! Oh, I shall tell her!"

"Wait! wait!" dissuaded Earle, but the winsome sprite flashed away with a tantalizing laugh.

Miss Alice did nothing of the kind. She was an observant creature and practiced as to match-making. It had been no task whatever for her to discover that Nava and Earle were in love with each other, but that her girl friend was shy and retiring and the lover seeking encouragement.

"I shall hurry things along," vehemently declared Alice, and a day or two later had an opportunity for placing a plan she had formed in operation. Nava had arranged to give a party to which all of her friends, including Earle, had been invited. Upon the day preceding it Alice said to her:

"Now, Nava, dear, you want to shine your brightest on this occasion. I am going to help you dress for the event and here—this will emphasize your attractiveness," and she pressed a ring upon Nava's hand.

"Oh, no!" demurred Nava instantly. "Why, you have placed it on the engagement finger!"

"And aren't you longing like every other live girl we know to have one there to stay?" and Nava blushed her prettiest. Both of them met Earle the next day as they passed down the street. As he greeted them he noticed the brilliant on Nava's finger.

The party was an enjoyable occasion to all save the hostess, for Earle did not appear, nor did he come near the house for several days later.

A week after the party he met Nava on the street. It had been a wretched seven days for him.

"If you will stop for a moment at the Dodge home while I return to Alice this ring she loaned to me to wear at the party I will be very glad to accompany you," said Nava.

The sky had been cloudy. Just then the sun came out. Earle's face had been grim and anxious. Of a sudden it glowed with a rapturous joy.

"A ring from myself shall encircle that fair finger before any one else gets ahead of me!" he fervently resolved, and when those two returned from the stroll along the lake mutual delight welled up in their happy hearts.

According to the politicians, one-half of the American people are crooks and the other half angels, which would indicate that most of us "don't belong" at all.

The Spanish prince is a corporal in the army. He may think he is somebody, but he has not yet run up against the awful majesty of a second lieutenant.

It is announced that the Prince of Wales is in no hurry to get married. It's pretty hard for a chap to be satisfied with royalty after spending six months with real folks.

In the Philippines there is a campaign on to bar orientals. It suggests the feeling you get in New Hampshire when a native talks about "going down east to Bucksport, Me."

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Well-known local druggist says everybody is using old-time recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite to impart color and a youthful appearance to the hair. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Dangerous to Woo a Spider.

Mrs. Spider will always eat Mr. Spider. If she can catch him, quite soon after they are mated. The female spider, too, will frequently devour her rejected suitors. Her swarming dance a fiery sort of jazz before her this being the method usually resorted to for ensuring the lady's affections. The female, if she thinks one of them would make a toothsome morsel, cut him before he can protest. If she decides to chase a mate she will dance with him.

Children and Books.

It does the child no harm to make the acquaintance of books which were not written for children. In a home where great books that have inspired or amused successive generations are accessible, an active-minded child is likely at some time or other to get at them. If we want our children to fall in love with the better kind of books, let us provide them with opportunities for meeting such books without too much formality.

TONSILITIS

Sick Tonsils threaten the Entire System

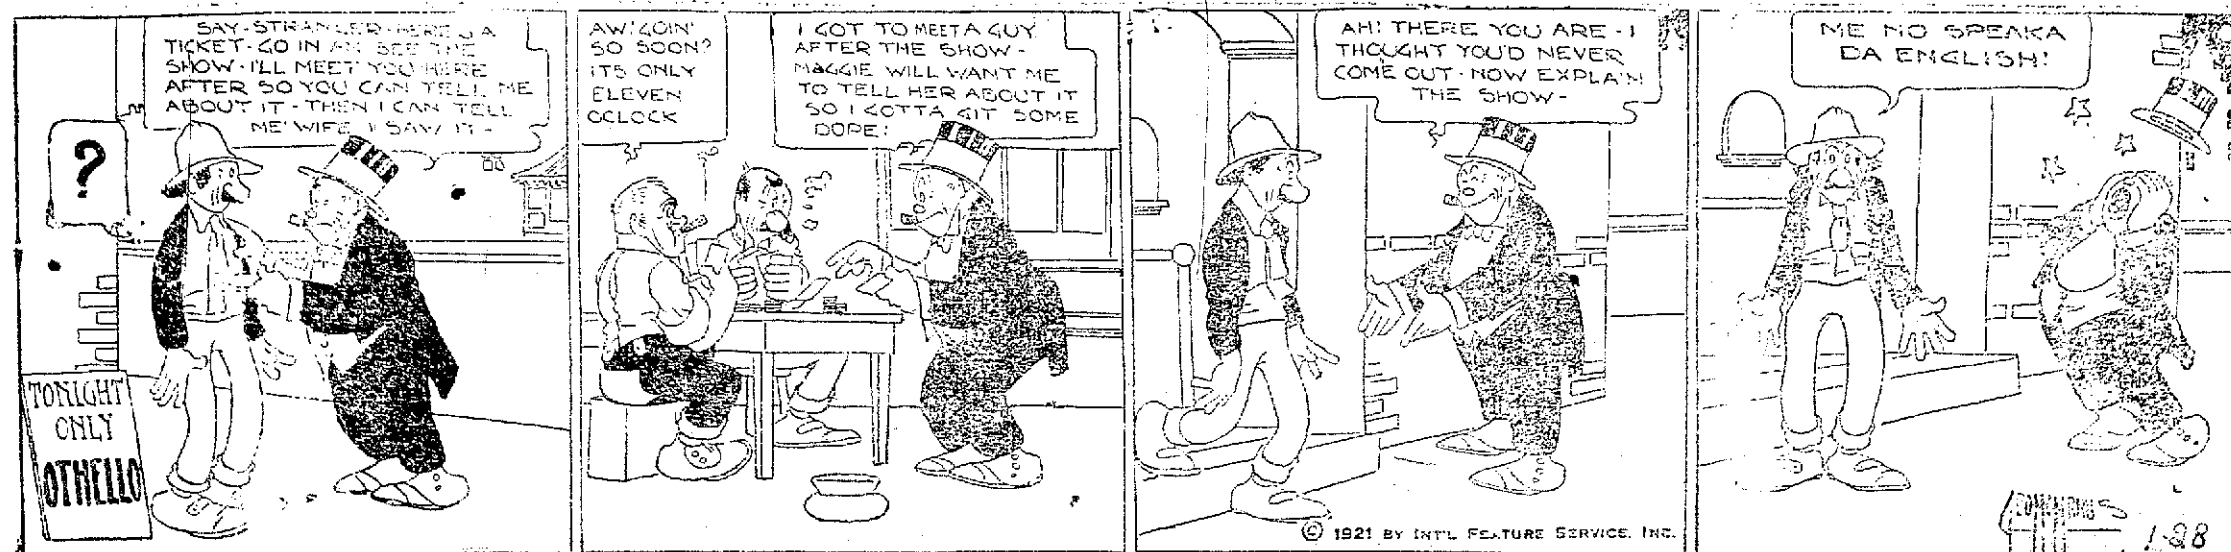

The importance of the warning given by a raw or rusty feeling in the throat is evident from the attention modern doctors are paying to the tonsils. The tonsils are spongy growths that lodge disease germs readily—diphtheria, scarlet fever, etc. They need watching.

At the first sign of soreness back in the region of the tonsils, get a jar of Krew-Pina and apply nightly to the throat—rub it in well and put a little in the nostrils. When in bed, draw up the bed clothes so that they form a funnel between throat and nostrils and inhale the medicinal vapors.

Krew-Pina is the celebrated family ointment composed entirely of simple home remedies such as Oil of Pine and other volatile oils from a formula that makes these harmless ingredients powerful to relieve and heal. Invaluable as a preventative and in cases of cold, bronchitis, cough and whooping cough, croup, stiffness, lame back, bruises and stone bruises, burns, cuts, etc. 30c and 60c jars with printed directions for using—at your druggist's.

Free Sample OF Krew-Pina WILL BE SENT TO ANY ADDRESS ON REQUEST. THE KREW-PINA CO., INC. WAYNESBURG, PA.

DAVIS FACES IMPORTANT JOB

Prominent Illinois Legion Man Heads Committee on Hospitalization and Vocational Training.

Gen. Abel Davis, who has been appointed chairman of the committee on hospitalization and vocational training of the American Legion, is a front-line soldier who won the Distinguished Service Cross and Croix de Guerre when he commanded the One Hundred and Thirty-second Infantry in France.

General Davis was born in Chicago and received his education in Chicago schools. He attended Northwestern university, and served as a member of the Illinois legislature and also held the position of recorder of deeds of Cook county, Illinois. He is now vice president and trust officer of the Chicago Title and Trust company.

The military career of General Davis dates back to 1897, when he enlisted in the Illinois National Guard. He served as a private in the Spanish-American war and remained in the army afterwards. He attained the rank of major, and served for some time on the Mexican border. After a short period at Camp Logan with the One Hundred and Thirty-first Infantry, he was promoted to colonel and given command of the One Hundred and Thirty-second Infantry, which participated in a number of major offensives in France. He has received the rank of brigadier general in the Illinois National Guard.

Well Trained.

A clerkman was visiting a certain large prison and by dint of persuasion and pleading was endeavoring to write from the criminals a promise to reform when at last they found themselves free again.

At last he came to a square-jawed, low-browed ruffian.

"My poor, misguided man, how did you come to take up thieving, to break into houses and rob innocent folk?"

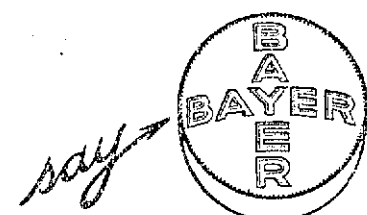

"I learnt it in an excellent school, mister," replied the hardened villain.

"Ah, alas, I suppose from very childhood you were brought up among thieves?"

"Yes; when quite a youngster I was apprenticed to a food peddler."

OUCH! LAME BACK

Rub Backache, Lumbago, Stiffness and Soreness Away—Try This!

Back hurt you? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica or maybe from a strain, and you'll get blessed relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil". Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness, stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on and out comes the pain. It is perfectly harmless and doesn't burn or discolor the skin.

Limber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle from any drug store, and after using it just once, you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica because your back will never hurt or cause any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 60 years.
